FROM :
ROGER B. MASAPOL
Director IV, Planning Service

SUBJECT : Summary of Regional Report of the Pilot Implementation of Limited F2F Class Endline Surveys

DATE : 15 February 2022

As part of the assessment of the pilot implementation of the limited face-to-face (F2F) classes last November to December 2021, the Department of Education has conducted an endline survey for learners, teachers, school heads, parents, and community members from the 284 participating public and private schools. The survey gathered critical information on the status and benefits of the implementation of health and safety protocols, blended learning approach, and school-community coordination. Furthermore, results from this survey provided key insights to determine possible necessary adjustments for the expansion of implementation and the subsequent transition to the new normal.

To provide additional information and support to the regions in their preparation for the expansion of the limited F2F classes, the Planning Service is sharing the Regional Reports of the Endline Survey. The reports per region contain results from different respondents such as learners, parents, teachers, school heads and community members on the implementation of health and safety protocols and the blending learning modality. Each regional report is summarized and presented in a protected sheet and can be accessed through this link: <https://bit.ly/RegionalF2FEndlineResults>.

For questions and clarifications related to these reports, kindly send an email to Planning Service - Policy Research and Development Division at ps.prd@deped.gov.ph.
